(By NEWTON C. PARKES.)

Field Headquarters American Forces in France, Oct. 27.—American troops are on the firing line. The official announcement that American soldiers are now in the first line trenches was given out at American headquarters. It follows: "In continuation of their training as a nucleus of later contingents, some battalions of the first contingent in association with veteran French battalions are in the first line trenches of a quiet sector of the French front. They are supported by some batteries of our artillery in association with some French batteries. The sector remains normal. Our men have adapted themselves to trench conditions in a most satisfactory manner."

A red-haired Irish gunner fired the first American shot in the war on French soil. It was 6 o'clock in the morning and the weather was thick with fog. It was reported that the projectile fell near a German battery. The artillery firing continued all day long, and late in the afternoon the Sammies moved towards the trenches. The case of the first American shell is to be sent to President Wilson by Maj. Gen. Sibert, second in command of the American forces. A drizzling rain had set in as the Americans moved towards the firing line. They ate their supper in French villages. The drizzle turned into a heavy downpour and in the blackness of the night the Sammies were silhouetted against the white walls as they silently moved forward. The silence was suddenly broken as the men broke into a song, singing "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching." Others started to cheer, but the officers gave a sharp command for silence, and stillness settled down upon the marchers. At a cross roads the boys turned off and disappeared in the darkness.

The correspondent of the International News Service and five other correspondents were the only civilians who saw the men's departure. There were various accounts current as to the first infantry fire. One popular story is that a young Sammie of a certain regiment blazed away at the German trenches at daybreak of the first day on the firing line. The distance between the opposing trenches, however, is so far that sniping is impracticable, nor can rifle grenades be used.

The final arrangement for the entrance to the trenches were completed ten days before the appearance of the men, by American officers. It was a fine October morning when the Americans entered the trenches. They passed through villages where Americans had never been seen before, and the villagers were crying "Vive Amerique!" "Vive Amerique!" Then "Vive l'Anglais!" as some of the onlookers took them for English soldiers on account of their helmets. At daybreak of a certain morning the men took up their positions and an officer passed down the line inquiring if all were ready. "Ready, sir," was the quick response on every side. A moment later a voice on the telephone gave the range of the enemy battery positions, the guns were trained, the gun squad chief swung his arms sharply downward signalling "fire," the gunner pulled the lanyard, there was a puff of smoke, a crash, and the first projectile fired in anger by Uncle Sam's gunners was on its way. Other American gunners in the meantime were sending fresh missiles hurling towards the German positions.

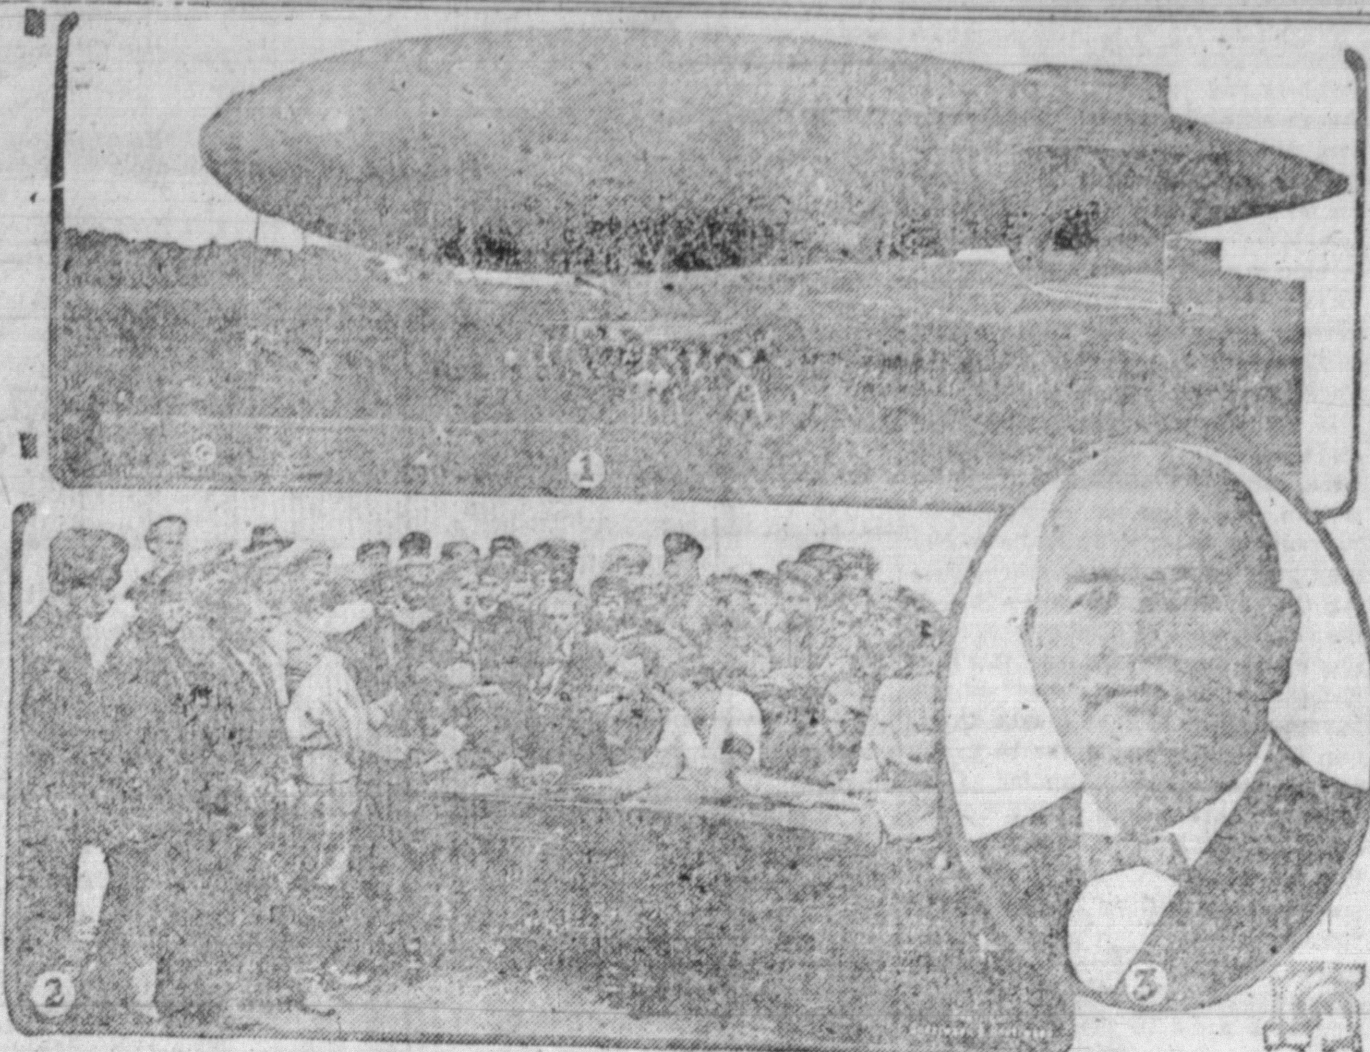

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 27.—All Washington thrilled this afternoon at the announcement that American troops are in the trenches. The news flashed rapidly over the city, and official business ceased for the moment. Official Washington realized for the first time that America is truly in the war. Troops gathered throughout the downtown part of the city and excitedly discussed the news, while here and there some gathered and offered fervent prayers for the safety and victory of the American troops. At the war department officers attached to desk jobs were deep in gloom. It meant that America was fighting and they were at home. After the news was released for publication by the censor it became known that an unsuccessful effort had been made in certain quarters to suppress it, but when the dispatches were carried to Secretary Baker he ordered them released.

AM that he would say when asked if other troops would be sent into the trenches was: "That is what they are there for." Despite the fact that the troops are "in a quiet sector," there was rejoicing on all hands. "It won't be a quiet sector long if our boys are there," one grizzled old war veteran said.

American troops are in the trenches to stay until the war is over. This was the interpretation placed upon the news received here today by everyone.

It is stated on good authority that Americans will be sent in the trenches to hold French posts while large forces of French troops are sent to aid Italy.

Liberty Loan Will Exceed The Five Billion Mark

Hartselle Subscribed For Bonds in the Sum of $17,000.
Campaign Ends Tonight

With official announcement from Washington that the Liberty Loan subscriptions will probably reach the $5,000,000,000 mark, a great drive is being made throughout the nation today to bring the total above that sum. The campaign closes at 9 o'clock tonight in the Twin Cities, at which hour the banks close.

The Daily was advised this afternoon that the two Hartselle banks had disposed of bonds in the sum of $17,000. Messrs. Arthur Stevenson and A. E. Jackson, representing the two banks, sold more than $2,000 of the patriotic paper yesterday afternoon and a large amount this morning.

Subscriptions for $2,000 were received today from Gurley by the Tennessee Valley Bank.

The total subscriptions for the Twin Cities will reach above $100,000, it was estimated this afternoon.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 27.—"Over the top" with $5,000,000,000 to crush the Kaiser. This was the rallying cry that rang throughout the land today as the army of Liberty Loan campaigners began their final day's drive to achieve the maximum goal. On the face of reports early today treasury officials were optimistic that the high mark will be attained and possibly passed by a good margin by midnight tonight.

Later officials declared that a good margin over the $5,000,000,000 mark would be reached by night.

On November First Patrons of Picture Shows Must Plank Penny

War Revenue Law Provides That One Cent Shall Be Paid
On Each 10 Cent Admission Or Fraction Thereof

Effective November 1, every patron of a local or other theatre, must pay a war tax of 1 cent or more each time they attend a show. The tax was imposed by the late congress, and the bill under which it was authorized is so strict in its provisions that it bars the further issuance of free passes by theatres, even to municipal officers not on legal business.

The tax, while paid in at the box office of the theatre, is in reality the property of the federal government and is merely held by the theatre in trust until taken up at stated intervals by an official of the revenue department. It is intended primarily to reach the ultimate consumer, and is separate and apart from a 20 per cent tax levied upon places of amusement direct. The direct tax presents a serious problem to theatre managers, and it is possible that an advance in the price of admission may result, although for the present the local houses will continue to show at prevailing prices, according to announcement today of Manager Cagle.

The war tax on "road shows" is 10 per cent of the price of admission.

For instance, those who attend a $2 show must pay 20 cents additional, while for a $1.50 show the added charge is 15 cents.

The only persons not subject to this war tax on amusements are children under a certain age, bona fide employees of the theatre or municipal officers engaged in official business.

Violation of the law as regards free admissions or failure to collect the war tax is punishable with heavy fines and long terms of imprisonment. The section referring to the tax on picture shows reads:

On and after November 1, 1917, there shall be levied, collected and paid (a) a tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or the fraction thereof of the amount paid for admission to any place, including admission by season ticket or subscription, to be paid by the person paying for such admission. Provided, that the tax on admission of children under 12 years of age where an admission charge for such children is made shall in every case be 1 cent.

FOOD CAMPAIGN IN THIS COUNTY BEGINS SUNDAY AND RUNS WEEK

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO REG-ISTER THE ENTIRE POPULA-TION ON THE SIDE OF ECONOMY AND CONSERVATION.

SPECIAL SERMONS SUNDAY

STATE ADMINISTRATOR HOBBIE
DIRECTS THAT THE SIGNED
PLEDGE CARDS BE DROPPED
INTO THE MAIL.

The food conservation campaign in Morgan county, under the direction of Hon. D. F. Green as county chairman and an executive committee that he has named, will open Sunday with a vigorous onslaught against waste from the pulpit, and will continue for one week. During that seven-day period it is planned to send pledge cards into every home and to place them in the hands of every individual, obligating them to observe the strictest economy in the use of food. The campaign is nation-wide and was inaugurated by Herbert C. Hoover, national food administrator.

In every precinct in the county committees have been named to take personal charge of the work, and these will seek the co-operation of other volunteers. Teachers of the public schools will take an especial interest in the canvass.

R. M. Hobbie, United States food administrator for Alabama, has written Chairman Green requesting that the pledge cards be mailed direct to him, as no postage is required and it is only necessary that they be placed in the mails.

His instructions in this connection and his letter in part follows:

We are writing you just a line to say that on the eve of "Registration Week" that we are receiving a splendid report from every county in the state, and we are sure that Alabama will do herself proud during the coming week and will register her full quota in the food campaign.

In regard to the return of the signed cards to our office we suggest that you have your various beat committeemen to mail the cards daily to the office here in Montgomery, and that it will not be necessary for the persons

Anglo-French Victory On West Front Grows in Consequence. Brazil Enters the War

(International News Service.)

Berlin, Oct. 27.—The number of Italians captured so far in the Austro-German offensive on the Italian front has been increased to 60,000, the war office announced today.

The ridge of Mt. Stel and the summit of Mt. Matajur were captured by storm on Thursday. The official report added that the Austro-German armies are pressing ahead through the spurs of the Julian Alps.

(International News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 27.—French troops on the West Flanders front drove forward through mud and fog during the night, extending their gains between Dreghen and Driel, the war office announced.

Artillery duels were reported from the Aisne river front and German raids from Verdun.

(International News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 27.—German air raiders dropped bombs on Dunkirk last night, killing 30 civilians, the war office announced today.

(International News Service.)

Berne, Oct. 27.—It is reported that Field Marshal Von Mackensen, the battering ram of the German army, is personally conducting the Austro-German offensive against the Italians.

(International News Service.)

Rio Janeiro, Oct. 27.—Now that Brazil has declared war on Germany all possible aid will be given to the allies, it was stated here today.

It is believed that the action of Brazil may influence Argentina which has been hovering on the brink of war for weeks.

(Note:—The war strength of the Brazilian army is 560,000 men. The navy consists of two dreadnaughts, two old battleships, five gun boats, four cruisers, fourteen destroyers, four torpedo boats and three submarines.

Geneva, Oct. 27.—The resignation of the Desell cabinet is regarded as a victory for the Italian socialists, according to advices from Rome today.

DEFENSES OF LAON ARE CRUMBLING UNDER BLOWS.

(International News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 27.—The defenses of Laon, one of Germany's chief positions on the western front, are crumbling beneath the steady blows of the French.

Striking simultaneously north of the Aisne river and in West Flanders the French gained at both points but the most important advance was on the Aisne front. In this sector the French occupied and passed the fortified village of Etilan and are extending their gains on the plateau north of Hevergn.

During the past 24 hours the French and British armies on the west Flanders front have taken more than 1,000 German prisoners, besides several villages and fortified farms.

The important Belgian town of Cheluvelt is on the point of falling into British hands.

(International News Service.)

London, Oct. 27.—Germany with the help of Austria is making today what may prove to be her supreme and last effort of the whole war. It is the stupendous operation against Italy which is developing into a campaign of the first magnitude, and far reaching results, even affecting mightily the situation on the western front, are possible.

There are indications that the Kaiser is staking all on this blow and that the plans of the German general staff include a desperate effort to break through the Italian front, overrun the Italian plains and invade France from the south, thus getting in the rear of the French armies.

That the initial phase of the German offensive has been successful is not disputed by the Italian war of-

BIG PARADE TO FEATURE SEND-OFF FOR NEGRO TROOPS

LINE OF MARCH WILL INCLUDE
PRINCIPAL THOROUGHFARES OF ALBANY AND DECATUR.

A big parade, in which all Morgan county negro citizens and school children will participate, will be one of the features of the send-off to be given the 120 negro selectmen Monday, prior to their departure for Camp Dodge, Iowa, where they will go into training. The parade, headed by the Alabama Orphans' Home band from Huntsville, will form at 11 o'clock Monday morning. It will pass through the principal business streets of Albany and Decatur, terminating at the Lyceum theatre, where a banquet will be tendered the departing soldiers. At the banquet Dr. W. E. Steers will preside as master of ceremonies, and addresses will be delivered by prominent negro leaders of the cities. The troops will mobilize Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the court house, and will be allowed to return to their homes for the night or if they prefer will be put up at local negro rooming houses. They will entrain Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The line of march for the parade was announced today as follows: All Albany negro citizens, male and $15,000,000 NITRATE PLANT FOR MUSCLE SHOALS IMMEDIATELY.

With unity of purpose, and some active work done immediately, the people of the Tennessee Valley ought to secure the location of the permanent $15,000,000 government nitrate plant during the coming session of congress. I believe the locating board, and the president would never have located the experimental nitrate plant and powder mill at Sheffield with the purpose of using coal as the generator of power if they had not had in their minds the location of the permanent $15,000,000 nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, with the purpose of using the cheaper 680,000 horse-power that the Great Architect of the universe at creation's dawn located at that place. If the locating board had been simply seeking the best place to find coal and transportation for making and handling nitrate and powder, many other places would have been better suited. But they could find no place with power as abundant and cheap as Muscle Shoals. They knew that the permanent great plant ought to have this power. Then if the experimental plant, with coal as its source of power, was not all they desired, then it would be near enough to this great Muscle Shoals power to make that available for the experimental plant. The question before us is: Is there any probability of the permanent plant not being built? If the war continues for several years, it looks as though it would have to be built. And even if the war closes in the near future, which would delight us all, if it closed in accordance with our government's idea of right.

Still with our knowledge of conditions it would seem that the government's need of explosives, and the farmers and the government's need for nitrate as a fertilizer to increase food crops would necessitate the building of the permanent plant. But with this need staring us in the face, still if the war should close before the permanent plant was started, there would be such a cry for retrenchment because of the great amount expended in war, that many of the necessary enterprises would be stopped or delayed. There is no trouble now for our matchless leader, Woodrow Wilson, to have all appropriations made that in his wisdom he may deem necessary to aid in the successful prosecution of the war. Seeing this situation it seems that the all important thing for the people of the Tennessee Valley to do is to keep their working organization intact, and press with more vigor than ever the necessity of the immediate location of the permanent plant at Muscle Shoals. You ask what is there to do? In reply will say that the farmers throughout the United States, and especially the farmers throughout the South, are organized in the interest of Muscle Shoals, because, in addition to meeting other government needs, this development alone will furnish them cheaper fertilizers. The organized farmers made this development possible by getting behind their immediate representatives in congress, and demanding that it be done. Let that continue, and let them constantly have their representatives impress upon the locating board and the president the necessity of the immediate location of this plant at Muscle Shoals, and in my opinion the thing will be done, and the nation will be blessed, and there will be an almost continuous city from Florence to Albany and Decatur.

So mote it be.

Yours for Muscle Shoals Development.

SAMUEL BLACKWELL.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH AND EVERY OTHER DAY

BY OBSERVER.

"When you do your job, leave everything safe," on a placard in the L. & N. shops, is a good motto for everybody. But how you leave a job is a matter of character, the which, if you have it not, mottoes amount to nothing. "Getting by," or even "getting on," is comparatively easy. But to write your name in the hall of finished character—this is work.

In fact, it is such a stupendous task that in your own strength you will never accomplish it. For this work you must have the help and co-operation of others and also God's help.

That poetry beginning something like—"I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul"—is not used often by anybody; only, say, when your body (and God made that) and your soul (and God made that also), are both in very healthful states; or when you are experiencing one of the rare triumphs of your life, or when you have just finished a strong cup of coffee or something.

Finished character is certainly the first thing; but humanity, always with a keen eye open for the course of least resistance, long since shrewdly surmised that it is easier to get by the gates of heaven than it is to come into possession of heavenly character. And in this connection there is a foolish delusion held by some that for the next life we are changed all over, as if God would undo all He has done in us and for us, like we would undo a strong. And to prove this foolish idea some quote the scripture—"We shall all be changed as in the twinkling of an eye."

You will be much the same you are now wherever you go, so better clean up and get to be a suitable person to life with.

But to continue: Humanity in its mad rush to save itself has dragged most of the church along on the same errand. Whereas Christ, the head of the church, has always been putting Christian character first and service and making personal salvation second.

It is a deplorable fact that most of the endless number of the churches of our race are laying the stress on how to get to heaven, instead of how And so, to make sure of heaven, many church groups have blocked out to get heaven into humanity.

systems and devised ways and means of getting there. Many in their zeal claim that there are no "just as good" ways, and that their church is the only true ship of Zion. Senator Ben Tillman once said with more vigor than piety, that "every church thought it alone possessed the right key to the pearly gate."

This movement, or rather slogan, "On to Heaven," cultivates the acquisitive disposition rather than the sharing disposition; it teaches you to get something, rather than to give something, and to share the best. If its members were after finished Christian character only there would be fewer estrangements between the church members and practically no inter-church strife. A church or its members rather than be even accused of self seeking should say, in language similar to that used by St. Paul when he said he would give up a meat diet to help a weak brother, that "before we would cause offense by seeking worldly power, we will seek nothing at the hands of the world while the world stands!"

If the saloon had been content to serve out drinks, dead though they were, instead of seeking to dominate politics, the American saloon would be running today. If Germany had been busy for the last 43 years meeting the conditions that will admit of the development of finished character, she would long since found the Hun god and what he made them do was wrong, and would have sought Christian God. Neither would she be in for terrible beating that is coming to her in spite of the wishes of the Kaiser, lovers, the weak and the morally dead. For when our war job is done we must leave everything safe—for democracy.

But, finally, how is one to come into possession of finished character? How write his name in the sure-enough book of fame? Try Whittier's receipt:

"Our Friend, our Brother and our Lord, what shall our service be? Not name, or creed or ritual word, but humbly following Thee."

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then it would last... two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three. I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children. I have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

ALBANY RED CROSS NOTES.
Red Cross members and all interested in the work are very appreciative of the generous offer of the patriotic people at Terrace Place, Albany, to donate all the proceeds from the sale of their chrysanthemums this fall to the Red Cross society. In previous years the sales from these beautiful flowers have amounted to considerable, and now that all the sale money is to go to the Red Cross, it is expected that a handsome sum will be realized.
Bills have been received for the large stock of yarns recently ordered by the Red Cross, and it is expected that the new yarn will soon be in the hands of the many eager knitters. Three hundred tickets are now on sale for the Red Cross Halloween party which is to be given for as many people and more, at the Y. M. C. A., on Wednesday night next. Though a big time is the main bill refreshments, music, recitations and games are also expected.
On Nov. 5, place not yet named, the Albany Red Cross society will hold its regular monthly meeting.

NINE TAKING EXAMS FOR CIVIL SERVICE

Nine persons are busy today taking the examinations for typewriters and stenographers which are being held at the Y. M. C. A. building by the local civil service board of the Albany postoffice. The examinations are under charge of Special Examiner Smith of Birmingham, assisted by W. G. Gentry, secretary of the local board.

Since the local board had only one week's notice in which to prepare for the examinations it is considered an unusually fine showing to have nine applicants. At the former examinations several weeks ago ten persons participated and seven of those were given positions in the war, navy and treasury departments at Washington with minimum salaries of $1,000 per annum.

Postmaster Alexander and Secretary Gentry are anxious to have Albany named as a permanent examination place. The present examinations are the only ones of the kind ever held in Alabama outside of the two larger cities.

Dr. Manly Called By Westside Church

Popular Minister Will Serve as Stated Supply Until Vacancy is Filled.

At a recent meeting of the session of the West Side Presbyterian church Rev. A. H. Manly was called as supply pastor, effective tomorrow. Rev. Manly was approached some time ago and asked to agree to such an arrangement, but he at first declined, pleading advanced years, and that "a better man could be secured." After mature consideration and after his old congregation had had a chance to express their wishes he reconsidered and has accepted the call.

It will be recalled that Rev. Manly was the first pastor of the West Side church, he and his consecrated and talented wife having taken that work in March, 1911. These devoted workers continued in charge about three years, during which time the church was put in a flourishing condition. Rev. Manly was succeeded as pastor by Rev. John W. Foster, formerly pastor of the Willoughby Presbyterian church of South Albany.

When Rev. Manly retired in favor of Mr. Foster he was superannuated by his church, but was later induced to take the pastorate of the Dallas Avenue Presbyterian church of Huntsville. Since giving up their regular work at Huntsville about a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Manly have resided at their home in West Albany.

PATRIOTIC ECONOMY

The highest authority in the land says: "The American people must economize."

Economy, however, does not consist of hoarding money, but of spending wisely. Should every American cease to spend, this country would soon be in a state of pauperism.

The same authority says: "Keep Business Going" by keeping money in circulation, by denying ourselves of some luxuries and spending unhesitatingly for the necessities. In this way only can we truly practice "patriotic economy."

COMPLIMENTED BY MRS.
J. W. HOLLAND.

A very pretty affair was the reception given by Mrs. J. W. Holland for Mr. and Mrs. Martin McEntyre at her hospitable home on Thursday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock. A beautiful decoration was carried in cream and pink fall flowers. The receiving line included Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Martin McEntyre. The table in the dining room was of unusual beauty, draped in snowy linen and centered by a large white cake decorated with a wedding lathan, over this depending from the ceiling was a large white tinsel covered wedding bell. A feature was a large white basket of gifts brought in by Lucile Holland and Thomas Pointer. Misses Christine Woodward and Rosa Hill gave delightful readings. The whole function was a delight.

Among the raisers of exquisite chrysanthemums who has been highly successful is Mrs. Milton Harvey, who at the residence of her father, Dr. G. L. Sullivan, on Johnston street, has cultivated this beautiful flower to a perfection rarely attained. For variety of color and perfection of bloom, these products of the care of Mrs. Harvey and her knowledge of horticulture, has brought this flower into its fullest power and beauty.

Albany-Decatur Daily
Albany, Alabama.

Second Liberty Loan campaign closes tonight and Sixth District success depends upon work done and results achieved between now and then. We are at the bottom. Chances are now favorable for district to reach minimum of eighty million and perhaps to go considerably beyond that figure but it is going to take every effort to do it. You have already done splendid work but we especially urge you to put forth your utmost endeavors in the remaining hours of the campaign. Use strongest appeal, you know how, well and prominently displayed, in all remaining editions to close of campaign and we believe it will pull the Sixth District through to success. We are counting strongly upon your best assistance which has been the life of the campaign to date.

HOW TO GET A GOOD CROP OF EARLY HAY

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
An early crop of hay may be grown on most Alabama farms by planting this fall a mixture of grain and hairy vetch. For the northern part of the state, the seed should be sown in September or early in October; for the middle part, in September or October; and for the southern part, in October or November. As soon as the fall rains come, the land should be plowed and planted.

HAIRY VETCH is a vine winter legume, which furnishes excellent grazing from February to May. If the seed are allowed to ripen and fall on the land, they will reseed. The kind of grain to mix with the vetch depends upon whether it can resist winter-killing or not. In that part of the state where oats winter-kill, rye or wheat is the better grain, but where oats stand the winter, they will be the vetch make the largest tonnage of hay.

Seeding the Mixture.
Vetch and grain do well on a great variety of soils including poor, sandy and clayey types. It enriches the soil and increases the yield of any summer crop that may follow. On land that makes half of a bale of cotton per acre, one and a half tons of oats and vetch hay has been housed by the first of May.

Vetch and grain can be sown broadcast on soft unplowed land that is comparatively free from trash. If it is hard or has a lot of litter on it, the land should be plowed before seeding. An application of 200 pounds of acid phosphate per acre usually increases the yield. If the soil is sour six or eight barrels of slaked lime per acre will prove beneficial. Sow broadcast 20 to 40 pounds of vetch seed and one bushel of either rye or wheat or two bushels of red rust proof oats per acre and cover them 2 or 3 inches deep. This may be done with a disk, spring-tooth, or spike-tooth harrow.

The hairy vetch seed should be inoculated before planting. This consists in adding certain germs that will form nodules on the roots of the vetch plants. The nodules are homes of bacteria that add atmospheric nitrogen to the plant and enrich the soil.

The inoculation is done easily by mixing the vetch seed with soil taken from where vetch or English peas have grown successfully. The soil may be dampened and mixed with the seed and both sown together, or the seed may be dipped in muddy water made from the soil and then sown, taking care to cover the seed promptly before they dry off.

VARIETIES OF RYE FOR USE IN ALABAMA

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
From the habit of growth rye may be divided into two distinct classes—one spreading out its early leaves close to the ground like turf oats, the other holding its early leaves more nearly upright, like turf oats. Most of the so-called Tennessee and Piedmont ryes belong to the former class, and the Abruzzi and Florida ryes to the latter.

The Alabama Experiment Station has tested a number of varieties for several years and has found that the Florida rye, Georgia (seed grown in Georgia many years), and Abruzzi rye give the largest seed yield. During the three years just closed, the average yield of these varieties planted on sandy soil was about 13 bushels per acre, while the seed from varieties grown from the north yielded about 50 per cent less. The northern varieties are usually late and consequently are often seriously injured by rust.

The Abruzzi and Florida rye (seed came originally from Leon County, Florida, where it is said to have been grown for many years) make an earlier and taller growth and produce more hay. The Abruzzi is not damaged so badly by rust. In some sections may be found a variety that has been grown there for many years. Such a variety usually gives better results for that community than seed brought from some other State.

Through the middle part of Alabama rye may be planted from the first of September to the last of November. Early September planting may suffer from dry, hot weather and loose a part of its stand. The rate of seeding is usually from 45 to 75 pounds of seed per acre. Where the land has had a clean tilled crop, like cotton or corn and is not hard, the seed may be sown broadcast by hand and covered with a disk harrow or spring-tooth cultivator. If the land is hard or has a great deal of vegetation on it, it should be plowed before seeding.

GRAINS SUITABLE FOR LATE SOWING.

By J. F. Dugger, Director Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
In the Northern part of Alabama it is getting late for the sowing of oats. However, by using the open furrow method, oats may be sown early in November further north in the State than is otherwise safe.

Wheat is much harder toward cold than oats, and may be sown later. For Central Alabama the sowing of wheat need not be stopped until the first of December, though somewhat earlier sowing usually affords a larger yield.

Rye is even harder than wheat, and the sowing of rye may continue even up to the first of December. Indeed, it may be sown several weeks later, but this would be inadvisable, especially in a year when seed are so expensive as now.

The same general consideration applies generally to the other grains; namely, that prompt sowing is more important in years when seed are very scarce than when seed are cheap.

Hartselle Team Wins By Score 12 to 0

Decatur Light Weights Played Plucky Game in the Face of Aetolopolis Handicap.

The Hartselle second team defeated the Decatur high school team in a game of football yesterday at the Y. M. C. A. park by a score of 12-0.

The Decatur boys put up a scrappy fight, but could not overcome the handicap in weight, the Hartselle boys outweighing the locals exactly twenty-five pounds to the man.

All of the scoring occurred in the first quarter, the first touchdown being made after about six minutes of play when a Hartselle back broke through the line for a 60-yard run, placing the ball between the goal posts. The second touchdown came when the same fullback circled the left end for 30 yards. Both attempts to kick failed.

For Hartselle the most consistent ground gainer was Burleson, the local's right line being unable to stop his plunges. The team work of Decatur was a little better than that of the visitors, consequently there were no particular stars. However, most of the ground gained was by Draper and Collins. On the defense the ends played well, but Collins was a tower of strength in this department.

The game taken as a whole was a good, scrappy, exciting one, with the very best of feeling existing between the members of the opposing teams. A large and enthusiastic crowd was present. The average weight of the Decatur team is 115 pounds. The team is anxious to negotiate with any team in a reasonable distance that averages within ten pounds of their weight.

Huntsville Defeats Albany 25 to 0

Locals Showed Class, But Were Too Light to Break Through the Lines.

The Albany high school football team was defeated Friday by the Huntsville high, 25 to 0. Although outweighed by their opponents, the Albany aggregation put up as fine a fight as ever was witnessed on the Huntsville campus.

Huntsville received the ball on the kick-off and for the first quarter the thin Albany line was unable to hold the Huntsville heavy-weights. After this, however, the Albany team developed a resistance which drew forth praise from the spectators.

The whole team did fine work and deserves great credit for their remarkable showing against such weight. The stars of the game who deserve particular mention were Harris at quarter, Chenault at full and Watson at right half. The tackling and line plunging of Watson, who weighs less than 100 pounds, and the punting of Malone, were outstanding features.

William Watson Goes As Talladega Manager

Local Man Promoted by the Alabama Power Co. Jones Comes Here.

William Watson, auditor for the Alabama Power Company, local operations, since the resignation last year of Cape Curry, has been again promoted and will leave early next week for Talladega, where he will become manager of the plant there. Mr. Watson will be succeeded here by Robert Jones, of Huntsville. The vacancy at Talladega was due to the promotion of Earl C. Wilson, formerly with the Albany office, to the head of the new business department, with offices at Birmingham.

Mr. Watson has been in the employ of the Alabama Power Company for some years and is gradually climbing the ladder of success. He has been promoted a number of times, and in his new position his friends predict that he will make just as good as he has in those that he has previously held. Mr. and Mrs. Watson will make their home in Talladega, and both will be greatly missed here.

Turnip Weighs 7 1-2; Beet Weighs 8 1-2

A beet weighing 8 1/2 pounds and a turnip tipping the scales at 7 1/2 pounds were brought to the Daily office today. They were grown by T. C. Mooney, a farmer residing at Shady Grove, 3 1/2 miles from Albany on the Moulton pike. They are the largest specimens of their particular lines that have come in, although other turnips of colossal proportions have been received.

Mr. Mooney grows about 400 bushels of stock beets to the acre, which make excellent cow feed. They are run through a slicing machine before being fed.

Dec. for the admission is made in some dispatches that the Italians have at some points withdrawn with their own frontier and that the fighting is on her own soil for the first time since Italy entered the war. It, as the present development indicates, the German high command really intends a serious effort for the invasion of southern France it is undoubtedly based on a desire to deliver a crushing blow on the west before the Americans can get fully into action. Military experts are watching with intense interest the next move in the great action developing on the Italian front. For three days the Germans have pressed forward, and, according to the German war office, have captured more than 50,000 prisoners, including 700 officers and between 300 and 400 guns. Von Hindenburg has taken every available soldier from the eastern front for the Italian campaign.

HIT GERMANS AGAIN. (International News Service.)

London, Oct. 27.—Canadian troops fighting on the West Flanders front repulsed two violent German counterattacks during the night. West of Passchendaele the British forces dealt the German line another hard blow, winning important ground and capturing 18 rapid fire guns.

Whopper Bale Cotton Sells For $539.88

Hartselle, Ala., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—One load of cotton weighing 4,320 pounds brought the producer the long green to amount of $539.88, $15 of which was a prize offered for the largest load of cotton brought to town on Oct. 26, by the First National Bank at Hartselle. Fifteen years ago a farm would scarcely have brought the same amount. The merchants and business men offered prizes during the entire month of October for every day in the month except Sundays to producers of cotton and lively interest has been manifested on the part of the growers and not a single prize has gone by default.

Food Campaign In This County

working under you to turn the cards over to you and then you forward them to our office here. If the canvassers mail the cards direct we will save considerable time in transit, etc. The cards, as you know, require no postage.

We earnestly appeal to you to keep in daily touch with the various ones who are assisting in your county and urge them not to let up until every household in their beat has signed the food pledge card.

We are extremely grateful to you for the splendid work you have already done and we assure you of our keen appreciation. With kind personal regards, we remain,

Sincerely,

R. M. HOBBS.
Food Administrator for Albany County.

Food Conservation Committee.

I want to earnestly beg that each captain appointed by Hon. D. F. Green on the food conservation committee do their very best in getting the literature into the hands of every freeholder and householder in Morgan county. We are facing the most trying conditions in the history of the world. Let Morgan county do her whole duty. Three ounces of bread saved each day by every household in the nation might gain the victory for the allies, which means a victory for us. Get the cards sent out into the hands of all the families and get the householders to sign them. Explain what it means to the nation. Feed the allies so they can fight, thereby it may keep our boys out of the trenches. Let Morgan county be a banner county.

Guard Stockyards And Grain Elevators

(International News Service.)

Washington, Oct. 27.—Federal Food Administrator Hoover today confirmed the report that he had directed all state administrators to take special steps to guard stockyards and grain elevator properties. The food administrator has evidence which compels him to believe that there is a plot to destroy the food supply, in the same way that the Kansas City stockyards went, and that it is backed by the Germans.

A PROGRESS HOT BLAST

Will change your coal pile from a hungry thief whose hand is constantly in your pocket, to a warm friend who will help you pay for a new stove. It is unpatriotic and wasteful to use an old stove which wastes most of the coal.

We can positively show you why a Progress Hot Blast uses less coal than other stoves.

Come in and let us show you this stove,

AMUSEMENTS

VERY GOOD EDDIE AT MASONIC TONIGHT.

(Atlanta Constitution.)

"Very Good Eddie," one of the most amusing musical comedies of recent years, and one of the biggest hits at the Atlanta theatre last season, is back again, for a four-night engagement, and last night played to a large and very well pleased audience.

The play will take you back again to the days when the tango was a fad and the Hawaiian melodies were just beginning to take the country by storm, but the entertainment is one which is always acceptable, as the result of funny situations and most acceptable music.

The chief interest in the performance centers in the work of Carney Christie, who plays the part of Eddie Kettle, the diminutive and thoroughly inoffensive husband of Georgiana, who is a regular giant of a woman.

With this role well handled, as is the case in this instance, it would be impossible for the play to be other than a success, and while some of the other roles might be in better hands all this is forgotten as soon as "Eddie" strolls upon the stage.

Marion Gould in the part of Elsie Lilly and Harry R. Hoyt, as Dick Rivers, suitor for her hand, take care of the most of the musical numbers and do it well, but Miss Gould is far better in the dance numbers, where her work is excellent.

The play has many amusing situations, and before the plot is half way unfolded the complications have become so many that it looks as if they will never be unraveled. Finally, however, the proper explanations are made and everybody's happy.

ALLEN & KENNA'S "AVIATION GIRLS' MUSICAL COMEDY CO. AT MASONIC ALL NEXT WEEK.

The Masonic theatre will have another tabloid musical comedy all next week, when Allen & Kenna will present "The Aviation Girls" in a repertoire of clean, up-to-date bill. Several old favorites are with the company, including Allen & Kenna and the Bonita Quartet. This company is guaranteed to be first class in every respect and will give a complete change of program each night.

There will be, as usual, two performances every night. On Monday night one lady will be admitted free with each 25c ticket.

STAR AND DELITE MONDAY.

"The Marriage Market" is the title of the new World-Picture Brady-Made at the Delite and Star theatres Monday, with Carlyle Blackwell and June Elvidge as the stars and with Arthur Ashley in the cast. This brilliant production is a story of society life in New York City. A girl marries to save her father from financial ruin but before she can save her father he commits suicide. The girl and her husband drift apart. She determines to become financially independent. To get a start she tries to sell her race horse to a man about town. He says he will buy it if she will come to his apartment at night for the money. Fearing trouble she tells her former sweetheart to meet her there. The man about town tries to attack her. She shoots him and he falls. She thinks she has killed him and swoons. But her bullet hit his cigarette case and glanced off. Her husband comes and in jealous rage does kill the man about town and when the girl's former lover comes he finds her near the dead body and thinks that she has killed him. The sweetheart takes the guilt on his shoulders but at the trial the butler who saw the whole thing tells what he saw and the two lovers are happily united. June Elvidge plays the part of the wife. Arthur Ashley is seen as the husband while Carlyle Blackwell portrays the role of the former sweetheart.

Whitman to Manage The Angola Herald

Local Man Accepts Position in Indiana After Completing Linotype Course.

J. P. Whitman, until recently with the Albany-Decatur Daily, and prior to that proprietor of the Whitman Printing Company, is in Albany today, preparing to move his family to Angola, Ind., where he has accepted a position as manager of the Angola Herald, a weekly publication. Mr. Whitman six weeks ago went to Chicago to attend the linotype school and upon his graduation signed up with the Herald. Angola is located in the corn belt of Indiana, 45 miles from Ft. Wayne, and is a pretty little city of 4,000 with many attractive lakes and streams nearby.
